DHRN'S 2010 STUDENT CONFERENCE

This conference will center on the unique needs of students involved in disability research from both the social science and biomedical perspectives. Content will focus on building communication skills for collaboration, a necessary competency for today's researcher. The conference will deliver diverse perspectives, rich experiences and practical tips from researchers, students, and the disability community. The featured keynote is Heather McKay, Director, Centre for Hip Health & Mobility and Professor, Department of Orthopaedics & Family Practice, University of British Columbia. The day will end with a reception and student poster presentation.
